SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY

The trough of low pressure aloft has moved onto the West Coast and a minor disturbance moving across southern Idaho out of this trough brought light rain to the valleys of southern Idaho. Measurable amounts were reported from most places, with that exception being the high country of the Snake River valley. Freezing in these agricultural valleys during the night with readings mostly in the 30s.

A surface front lies to the west of southern Idaho this morning and will be moving into these valleys tonight and early tomorrow morning. Low pressure aloft will accompany this front and precipitation is expected to be fairly heavy during the next 24 to 30 hours. Cloudy skies with scattered showers near the mountains will occur today with general rain beginning tonight and continuing into Wednesday. Cooler air is moving into the northern Idaho mountain region and a cold front is expected to move into the area with possibly some snow mixed with the rain in valleys slightly lower than 5,000 feet, is expected in lower valleys.

Temperatures today will be in the mid-40s to mid-50s and on Wednesday mostly in the 40s. Minimum temperatures tonight are expected to continue in the 30s.

Stockmen are advised to provide protection to livestock remaining in higher elevations against wet snow and freezing temperatures. Motorists are also advised to use caution in making plans to travel through higher mountain passes. Bed digging can continue to make some progress today in most areas, but more general precipitation tonight and Wednesday will cause delays in this activity.

Child, 2, Has Liver Transplant

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 9.—A team of University of Minnesota surgeons announced yesterday it has developed a new type of liver transplant which may save many lives in the future.

The team performed the new kind of surgery last Wednesday on a 15-month-old boy who was dying and so far it has been successful.

It was the first liver transplant performed at the university, the first of its kind anywhere and the first time a child has survived a liver graft.

Dr. Karel B. Absolon, assistant professor of surgery who headed the team, said the operation was performed on little Todd Klein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Klein, 81, Cloud, Minn.

The child was suffering from an ailment called biliary atresia, an ailment called biliary atresia, an ailment called biliary atresia. He had no bile ducts going into the liver since birth, and three or four weeks ago he appeared to be dying.

"One of the most important things about the new system is simplicity," said Dr. Absolon.

He said the surgeons took a healthy liver from a 3-year-old child who died of a cardiac defect and grafted it in Todd in a 38-minute operation.

"This process carries less risk than other liver graft operations," he said, "and may help the patient get over the crisis where he may reject the new liver."

He said the surgeons plan to leave Todd's own liver in place until they are convinced his body will not reject the new one.

Dr. Absolon said the prognosis is guarded, but so far the child is recuperating in "satisfactory condition" in Variety Club heart hospital.

Adenauer Appeals to France, Bonn

PARIS, Nov. 10 (AP)—Former West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, still vigorous at 81, appealed yesterday to France and Germany to bury their present quarrels and join in building a united Europe in the divided world.

Even as Adenauer delivered his appeal directly to President Charles de Gaulle in a 45-minute talk at the Elysee palace, spats were flying in Paris and Bonn over French-German differences.

Adenauer's visit, some said, probably not accidentally—with publication of a statement in Germany by West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder sharply criticizing French policy. Schröder also accused Adenauer of being "too conciliatory toward France."

Adenauer took no direct notice of the Schröder remarks.

Adenauer predicted that the French-German alliance he forged with De Gaulle and which is less than two years old, will "bear good fruit" despite current differences.

De Gaulle has threatened to boycott or quit the European Common Market unless the Germans agree to slash arm prices by the end of the year. He also has warned that the French-German alliance will be jeopardized if West Germany joins the American-sponsored multilateral nuclear force project.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 10 (AP)—Hungary signed into law yesterday an order stating there is no time limit on war crimes. The 1948 law provided that the council ruled out any 30-year statute of limitations on the prosecution of war criminals.

Q—What is Alzheimer's disease? What causes it and how is it treated?

A—Alzheimer's disease is another name for senile dementia. As we reach advanced age there is always some shrinking of the acute awareness of the beatings of your heart. Since dyspnea or palpitation may be due to nervous apprehension as well as to serious heart disease, I cannot say how serious these symptoms are in your case. An indication of waterlogging, however, would be a sign of seriously impaired heart function.

WASHINGTON

BY MARSHALL CHASE. — The Washington Post, Oct. 10. — The doctors are all waving around the word "cure," each with a different prescription for the unhappy patient. The Republican party is sick, perhaps mortally sick, and no easy formula of "rally round the old flag" will do more than disfigure the peril.

The first essential is not to start talking about survivors of the wreck of the party who might be called "Marshall Chase candidates" in 1908. That ignores the history of the past three decades, when only for eight years, and the party congresses — even the meanest of them —

Those arguing the urgent need to rebuild the party see the hope from the Republican leadership in congress. House minority leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana took a jaunty view of the Democratic party's shrinking minority by perching on a seat. "The fact that more Republican seats were not lost, he said, was a statement that had almost forgotten, was a "tribute to both Republican strength" and a "warning" to the "rest of the country." "Down on the floor, as one governor recently remarked, there is no place for the party."

The catch, however, is that both Sen. Barry Goldwater and his vice presidential candidate and then thanks to a national hero, Dwight Eisenhower, have the Republicans been able to take power.

The first task is a massive reorganization of the party machinery from top to bottom. It will take dedicated and continuing effort by knowledgeable men and women in every part of the country with sufficient belief in moderate Republicanism to make the effort effective as a new party. Whether it can be done is highly questionable.

But if a serious effort in this direction is not made, under the leadership of the Republican governor—many of them are Republicans—the debacle—the party will continue to be a shadow of Rep. William E. Miller, have their clays with congress. Hilleck and his opposite number on the Senate side, Sen. Frank Carlson, can dig in their heels and make any change difficult, if not impossible.

There will be a continuing loyalty to Goldwater if not also to Miller, who was, Republican or Democrat, before his selection as Sen. from New York. But the strength came from the congressional party, from senators such as Roman Hruska of Nebraska, who survived the deluge, and Carl Curtis of the same state. But Sen. Frank Carlson, a consistent campaign comrade of Goldwater, traveled tirelessly across the country talking to dis-its once-flourishing and vigorous social-fighter than a true major party in recent years it has been half a party. This is the reason why the party government who want to come together as soon as possible for a strategy meeting.

A bland refusal to face the facts of life—a withered party organization and a party platform different to poor candidates, failure to attract youth, a hide-bound stand on issues—is a principal reason for the party's plight today. More of the same can only mean a further loss of the support of more elections.

The immediate necessity, in the opinion of most of the governors, is to remove the Coldwater of far-cut Republicans who observed his night-view-viewer and reached for the election of the party. Little rejection to the quality of a presidential candidate.

Now, optimistic chirping heard about the emergence of a party revival in the South. The Republicans took five House seats in Alabama and one in Mississippi. They now have Sen. Strom Thurmond in South Carolina.

But surely this is not the basis for a revived party. Southern Republicans are, on the whole, the right of southern Democrats. And the loud notes of race and reaction they made in the last teries, headed by Dean Acheson, now in control of the national organization. How this can be done is far from clear. And especially if it rises to the hostility between the two republican parties, headed by Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard M. Nixon, Republicans out of their wits. The pieces of the puzzle are on the floor. How they can be put back together is still to be determined.

Q—I have Bell's palsy. My doctor said I should keep indoors as much as possible. What damage can too much wind do to my eye?

A—Bell's palsy is a paralysis of one side of the face. It usually comes on brain, but only when the process becomes extreme is the any' true dementia. The exact cause of the shrinking is not known, but is apparently not due to hardening of the arteries of the brain. Since dyspnea or palpitation may be due to nervous apprehension as well as to a serious heart disease, I cannot say how serious these symptoms are in your case. An indication of waterlogging, however, would be a sign of seriously impaired heart function.

The Doctor Says

Q—I have Bell's palsy. My doctor said I should keep indoors as much as possible. What damage can too much wind do to my eyes?

A—Bell's palsy is a paralytic disease of the face. It usually comes on brain, but only when the process becomes extreme is there any true dementia. The exact cause of the shrinking is not known, but is apparently not due to hardening of the arteries of the brain. The progress of the disease is very gradual. The victim may become depressed, fearful. His behavior is unpresuddenly. The eyelids on the affected side cannot close completely. This may cause dry-

helps if it is given early in the

Belgian and Rusk Discuss NATO Row

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk discussed NATO's nuclear strategy dispute yesterday with Belgium Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak.

Spaak said later that he saw no early solution to the conflict on this issue between France and the United States.

Rusk flew to Brussels today for a full-scale review of this and other foreign policy problems, including Vietnam, with President Johnson and other cabinet officers.

Spaak told newsmen after his meeting with Rusk that he did not believe there was a solution in the near future.

French President Charles de Gaulle's government in recent days has intensified its attacks against the U.S.-sponsored NATO nuclear surface fleet, known as the multi-lateral nuclear force (MLF).

French officials have charged the concept of the MLF is directed politically against France and that it would provoke Russia to anti-Western actions, and that it might even cause a breakdown of the Western alliance.

Germany is the only major ally supporting the MLF, which would consist of vessels armed with Polaris missiles and manned with mixed crews drawn from participating countries.

The other West Europeans are either opposed or reluctant.

France, in addition to sharpening her attacks on MLF and trying to woo West Germany away from the concept, has increased the economic squeeze on the Bonn government. De Gaulle has insisted that Germany bring its high grain prices down to the French levels before mid-December or see the cherished common market put on the shelf.

France Puts Aside Ideas On Satellites

PARIS, Nov. 10 (AP)—France has put aside "for the time being" ideas of sending a space probe to the moon or orbiting a manned satellite, Gaston Palewski, minister of state for science, space and nuclear affairs said yesterday.

But he told the National Assembly that French research had made big strides and the national "is producing substantial amounts of enriched uranium—the basic material used in the manufacture of hydrogen bombs."

Palewski discussed his ministry's work in a debate on the $1.5 billion budget for the science budget.

French budget will be 20 billion dollars.

Palewski said France's Piorrelle nuclear plant has started producing substantial quantities of enriched uranium with the end product technically purer than expected.

He did not mention rumors that Diamant and Emeraude, the two prototypes of France's first medium range rockets, were developing trouble. The problems might delay the launching of the first French-built space satellite from late 1965 until mid-1966.

But he did say that while France was working on a large-scale space program "for the time being any project of a space probe launched toward the moon or other planets, as well as any project of a manned satellite, has been abandoned."

Athlete Will Have to Pay Freight Fee

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 10 (AP)—A 22-year-old athlete who flew 12,000 miles hidden in a wooden crate because he couldn't pay $640 for a ticket, must pay $370 freight charges, Air India said today.

"I know what he has to pay, it's not in the constitution," said George Talat, Perth manager of the Indian line. "We don't intend to invoice him for it."

Spiers said yesterday he would pay up but it would have to be in installments. Talat said the company wants a lump sum.

The manager said international air transport regulations prevent the line from waiving the freight charge.

Spiers, a javelin thrower who failed to make Australia's Olympic team, went to London to try for the English team and failed again. Broke and homeless, he got a friend to crate him up and ship him on to a non-existent firm in Perth.

Spiers spent nearly three days cooped up in the crate without food or water. At Perth, he broke out of the box, cut his way out of the customs shed's screen door and hitchhiked 1,000 miles to his wife and child in Adelaide.

Spiers said he has no job but several have been offered him. So far, he added, he has made only $60.00 on his exploit, from a newspaper which bought his story.

"Piggyback" Satellite to Be Launched

CAPE KENNEDY, Nov. 10 (AP)—The air force next month will attempt a unique piggyback satellite launch that may save the taxpayers $370,000, a SHOT, it was learned yesterday.

The 300-pound satellite, carrying its own rocket motor, will hitch a ride into space on the nose of an Atlas missile launched at Vandenberg air force base, Calif., on a re-entry test.

When the Atlas, near the peak of its brief hop into space, the satellite, known as OV-1, will spring away from the Atlas, coast a few seconds and then fire its own rocket to speed into orbit.

The Atlas, meanwhile, will continue on its ballistic flight dropping a test warhead into a Pacific target area.

By using a rocket assigned to another mission, the air force saves the cost of a special booster for the program. A four-stage Scout rocket, the least expensive rocket capable of orbiting such a payload, costs at least $1.1 million dollars.

By subtracting the cost of the spacecraft, development, and special propulsion system from the price of a launch rocket, the air force expects to save at least $370,000 on each of the first six shots planned, informed sources said. Later savings could be much higher, they said.

The satellite was once scheduled for launch at Cape Kennedy but switched to the West Coast in September. It is expected to carry a wide range of scientific experiments.

An unusual mention of the program in a base newspaper at Patrick air force base near here said the experiments included the testing of a human torso simulator, living organisms and the examination of the probe's ultra-violet infra-red environment.

The air force office of aerospace research, which runs the project, refused to comment and said the program was classified.

Items on the business agenda include the fourth national conference of Methodist men at Purdue—universally July 9-10, 1965, and the need for plans and organization to raise money by 1966 to complete the purchase of 80 acres of land adjacent to camp Sawtooth property.

The dinner is at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. Methodist laymen are urged to attend.

Jaycee Movie On Wildlife Opens Friday

The rare Shirras moose will be featured in Gordon Eastman's newest hunting, fishing and wildlife film, "High Country."

Gordon Eastman, lecturer and former Disney photographer, brings his all new two-hour color hunting, fishing and wildlife film to Twin Falls at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the American Legion hall. The film is being sponsored by the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"This film," Eastman said, "has been a dream of mine for the last 10 years. To me, there is nothing more exciting than the large game animals that live in the majestic Rocky mountains. I did the complete life cycle of the elk, from new-born calf through four seasons of the year. There is nothing more thrilling to watch than one trophy bull elk after another challenge each other for their haven of cows, ready to battle in nature's greatest test of courage. The audience follows this last great migrating herd until there are 8,000 animals on the winter grounds."

The Shirras moose is one of the animals depicted in Eastman's film. He grew to have a very health respect for this slow, deliberate animal. A few minutes after taking a picture of the beast, Eastman and two of his party were climbing trees. This was the first of many times he had to resort to the safety of trees during the four months spent filming these animals for a Disney production.

Besides hunting and wildlife, the movie offers the fisherman the thrill of floating the Green river in rubber boats for German brown and rainbow trout weighing up to eight pounds. The high adventure of snowplanning while ice fishing for 20-pound lake trout, makes this two-hour color program his best work. The film has been described as the finest in family entertainment.

Citizen Group Named at Filer

FILER, Nov. 10—Nine members of the citizen's committee for Filer school district 412 have been announced by Robert Molander, board of trustees chairman.

Serving on the committee will be Roger Vincent and Duane Beyer and Jack Ramsey, sub-district two; Marvin R. Ruhter, sub-district three.

Ralph Ward and Leslie R. Jones, sub-district four, and Ora W. Jones and Bruce Kunkel, sub-district five. Another member from sub-district three will still be named.

The new committee was formed upon recommendation of the PTA groups of the district. Board members chose committee members from their respective sub-districts. All members are legal residents and have property subject to taxation by school-board election.

The committee plans to conduct a study showing the need for consolidation of Victory and Central elementary school buildings, plus any other district building requirements that are apparent at the time of the study.

Other suggestions and recommendations to the committee include the surveying of the land.

available for a new elementary system on Fair avenue; considering the six grade and eight grade maximum elementary system; studying the present agriculture department and shop facilities. The committee may explore the possibility of separating the agriculture and shop departments into a structure near the present boiler building, incorporating the boiler building and providing facilities and space for adult classes and making more room available for the physical education department in the gymnasium complex.

The committee also has been asked to review the teacher housing facility at Hollister, establish a good mentorship system on both elementary and high school properties, and consider the use of the established well on the Victory property. If this property is approved as a water source for an underground sprinkling system.

An organization meeting of the committee is planned soon.

Competition In Teen-Age Event Starts

DALLAS, Nov. 10 (AP)—Teen-agers showed off legs, hillbilly accents—and poems inspired by the late President John F. Kennedy at the Miss Teen-Age America talent judging last night.

The next time 10 of the 52 contestants perform, it will be as pageant semifinalists before a national audience watching CBS' hour-and-a-half telecast Friday night.

The girls rolled out of bed today for a "T" turn-out, the final poses and appearance interviews, and an afternoon "hurricane derby," judged by Yankee slugger Mickey Mantle.

The talent tryout was a leggy affair. Nearly half the candidates wore figure-hugging leotards in their acts, from a rock 'n' roll ballet by Joanne Christopel, St. Louis, Mo., to Charlotte Ann Sims' heavily applauded acrobatic ballet, Miss Sims is from Minneapolis, Minn.

There were torchy and jazzy dancers but two of the standouts stuck to traditional fare: a light-footed tap dance by Andrea Lynn Ayers, Greenville, S.C., and a beautifully done classical ballet by Debra Dietheim, Toledo, O., who had troubles with her recorded accompaniment.

There were some of the more publicized dances, too. The wildcat was a shuffling version of the Frog, watusi, Twist and Swin, with a little bit of wiggle-wooble thrown in, by blonde Sue Elizabeth Bacheler, Chicago.

Burley, Minico to Head Up Grid Finale; Jerome, Buhl to Be Tight Battle

Burley and Minico always head up the traditional Veterans' day finales for Magic Valley, but this year the tightest battle comes at Buhl where the Indians will host the Jerome Tigers. The third game of the Wednesday windup will find the Wendell Trojans drawing the task of trying to stop the Gooding Senators, who will be out for their eighth straight victory. But the spotlight always returns to Burley-

Rhyme Wants To Play Pro, With Anyone

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—Jerry Rhyme, the young Tulsa quarterback who is breaking national football records each week, said Monday he would be wanted to play in the football but didn't want to play in the National Football League, the American Football League or the Canadian Football League.

Rhyme was drafted last year by the Dallas Cowboys of the NFL, the New York Jets of the AFL and the Calgary Stampeders of the CFL. He was drafted by the Dallas Cowboys, the New York Jets and the Calgary Stampeders.

Rhyme said he was talking to the Dallas Cowboys, who are in New York with Don Hutson, the former Green Bay Packers star, who is also in New York.

"I'd like to win the last three games and get Tulsa in a bowl game," Rhyme said. "I'm really not trying to talk to anyone."

An opportunity to play would be a big thing for Rhyme, who is a big contract would be important.

Rhyme, son of former Dallas high school football coach, was drafted by the Dallas Cowboys, the New York Jets and the Calgary Stampeders.

Rhyme is completing his fifth year of college, having transferred to Tulsa from Southern Methodist after his sophomore year. He was eligible for an early draft last year as a "Junior."

Bradshaw's Image Hurt By Press

ATLANTA, Nov. 10 (AP)—Charles Bradshaw, one of the coaching profession's most controversial figures, is to those who know him well a gentleman, a man dedicated to football and a demanding coach.

On the other hand, this 30-year-old recruit from the Alabama staff of Paul Bryant has the public image of a severe taskmaster.

When he arrived at the University of Kentucky three seasons ago to take over the school's faltering football program, he moved right into the public spotlight and has never been able to get out of it.

"I was a little naive when I came here," Bradshaw said in a telephone interview Monday from his office at Lexington, Ky.

But he learned from his mistakes, he was quick to add.

"My biggest error—and it hurts me to say this—was being truthful with the press, but that's the way I was reared, to be truthful."

The biggest failure on my part has been the inability to communicate with news media to let them know what we're trying to do," he said. "And the news media has let it down by not getting the facts straight about our program."

Kentucky and Bradshaw captured the public eye when they began leaving the team in droves. This brought considerable speculation that something was amiss on the school's practice fields, although newsmen later witnessed any questionable happenings.

One thing led to another and Bradshaw is unable to escape from the spotlight and outside criticism no matter what he attempts now. The school newspaper, the Kentucky Kernel, keeps him under continuous fire and is his strongest critic.

Wittenberg Still Is Top Small College

By The Associated Press

Wittenberg, which has finished its season undefeated but has rejected participation in a bowl game, retained its No. 1 rating today in The Associated Press small college football poll.

The Tigers from Springfield, Ohio, have led the top ten since the start of the season. This week they received nine of 11 first place votes and 100 points.

The other nine teams also remained in the select group but were shuffled around considerably.

Wittenberg trounced Wabash 41-7 last Saturday, completing its unbeaten streak to 10-0. The Tigers were tied once last season.

Almost certainly to receive NCAA-sponsored awards, college football, the Tigers unanimously selected such a game as a special meeting Monday.

In order to play in one of the bowls, Wittenberg would have to leave 18 freshman members of the 48-man varsity at home.

NCAA rules prohibit schools with more than 50 male students to use freshmen on the varsity.

Former Swim Star Advises New Champs

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Nov. 10 (AP)—Eleanor Holm, a former swim champion of a bygone era, has seen her records "amashed" to smithereens by a new generation of stars, and she thinks "they're wonderful."

But Eleanor has this advice for girls seeking fame in the sport in which she excelled: "Take it easier, have fun, and stop trying to look like boys."

Miss Holm, now an interior decorator living in a penthouse apartment on Biscayne Bay, says, "I was one of the few girl athletes who had a ball. I wouldn't change a thing."

Young girl swimmers today are putting themselves out by overtraining. They can fly. But they don't last.

"Lynn Burke was an Olympic winner in 1928. But she but of competition in three years. Chris von Saltza set all the free-style records and won at the 1928 Olympics. But do you ever hear of her name?"

"The girls get up at 6 o'clock, train three hours, go to school, then rush back to the pool and train some more."

"We never did that. We were in the pool for three or four hours a day, but much of that time we just sat around listening to instructions from the coach."

"Obviously, the hard work pays off in records. But I wonder if the girls couldn't break records, anyway, without overtraining. Certainly, they would last longer."

"It saddens me to see them put out their hair and try to look like boys. In my days, we had glamour girls."

Soccer Style Kick Has Tiny Problem

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—Felix Gogolak of the Buffalo Bills, who kicks soccer-style with the inside of his right foot, says his unusual method of kicking field goals presents only one problem: "The time he can't see the uprights."

"When I kick from the left side I can see and aim because the uprights are somewhat in front of me," Gogolak explained. "But when I kick from the right side I'm parallel to the goal posts or further over and I'm looking in the stands."

"So I have to set things up before and make sure I put a hook on the ball so it curves in the air."

That's one of the refinements Gogolak has made since he fled to Hungary after the 1956 uprising, and eventually became a collegiate sensation at Cornell by consistently putting the ball through the uprights while standing at a 45-degree angle to the end zone.

Gogolak traced his development Sunday after kicking two field goals, including a 47-yarder that snapped a 7-7 tie, in a 20-7 victory over the New York Jets that helped keep the Bills undefeated in the American Football League.

"We left Budapest in 1956 after the uprising," said Gogolak, who explained he was 14 and too young to participate. My brother, mother and father and I walked 20 miles to the Austrian border. There were tanks at the border and it was lit up at flare but we took a chance. I had played soccer from the time I was four, he continued. "But when we came to the United States I had never heard of football."

Rams Now Set Sights For Bears

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10 (AP)—Whipping the Philadelphia Eagles was quite gratifying but the Los Angeles Rams have another score to settle with the Chicago Bears here Sunday.

Yogi Berra, named for the Golden Helmet as the professional player of the week in Southern California, spoke at the weekly session of the Football Writers Association.

Hains is the owner-coach of the defending champion Bears.

Rams Coach Marland Evans expressed satisfaction with the team's 20-10 victory Sunday over the Eagles but sounded a warning.

"Look out for Green Day. They're all mad again," he said. Since Los Angeles upset the Packers, they have beaten Minnesota and Detroit, the latter 30-7 Sunday.

Pitt Coach Says Call Was Wrong

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10 (AP)—A Pitt assistant coach said Monday a game film showed that the fourth down play against Notre Dame in the fourth quarter.

Coach Bill Golden said he ran the film in slow motion several times and it showed Pitt quarterback Fred Mazurek advancing the ball a couple of feet to the Notre Dame 17, enough for a first down.

The top-ranked Irish took over on downs and went on to win 17-15 for their seventh straight victory.

Head coach John Michelosen did not comment on the play.

"Bear-Hunting" Clay Disrupts Weigh-in

BOSTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Bear hunt champion Cassius Clay turned a preliminary title fight weigh-in at which he was scheduled to weigh in at 167 pounds into a whirling dervish through the crowd. Through it all, poked-faced challenger Sonny Liston mechanically chewed gum without missing a beat.

Both contestants for the Nov. 16 Boston Garden rematch were pronounced in perfect health with special attention given to Liston's left shoulder.

After extensively testing the fighter, Liston was found to be in good health and was allowed to weigh in at 167 pounds.

Clay, who is 16 years old, was found to be in good health and was allowed to weigh in at 167 pounds.

Doctors Finish Operation on Yankees' Ford

HOUSTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Doctors cut a nerve in Whitey Ford's left arm during a 14-hour operation Monday and a hospital spokesman said the New York Yankee pitcher should be throwing the ball again by spring training next year.

Ford will be in the hospital about a week.

A spokesman said a symmetrical nerve which supplies the muscular artery was cut allowing the blood to flow more freely to the arm.

The shoulder was not entered during the operation, the spokesman said, and therefore Ford's muscular coordination should be entirely normal.

Jacobs Takes Over WAC Scoring Lead

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 10 (AP)—Utah fullback Allen Jacobs took over the Western Athletic Conference football scoring leadership as a result of his four touchdowns against Brigham Young Saturday.

Jacobs now has 42 points for the season, three ahead of teammate Roy Jefferson. Last week's leader, Elmer Lindgren of Arizona, is tied for third with Claude Ward of New Mexico at 39 points.

Jacobs also leads the conference in rushing with 570 yards and a 4-2 per carry average.

Arizona State aerial artist John Torok continues to widen his leadership in total offense and passing. He has 1,376 yards net total and 1,438 passing. Torok has lost 62 yards rushing.

Torok's teammates Ben Hawkins and Jerry Smith have the most receptions. Hawkins has caught 27 for 480 yards and four touchdowns, and Smith has 20 receptions for 428 yards and three scores.

Wyoming's Jerry Marion took over as the top punter with an average of 30.4 yards in 18 boots. Arizona State's Chuck Kolb is a shade back at 29.3 and last week's leader, Gene Dahlquist of Arizona, is in third spot at 28.8.

The commission, consisting of Herman Greenberg with fellow commissioners Ed Urbee and Tom Rawson, permitted Clay to examine the gloves both fighters would use.

After he tried on Liston's, the champion admitted they were a little big for him, adding, "Dynamite comes in small packages."

No More Mirrors, Theories or Study; Hoople Returns to Guess

By MAJOR AMOS HOOPLE

What a miserable week! Once again a SATURDAY morning football plan has proved feeble. The prediction of Saturday's warriors for the unexpected again has collapsed—a theory, I suppose, I shall come second guessing myself. Perhaps, in my effort to prove the superiority of my program, I have devoted a little too far from my basic personality of forthrightness and actually a devil-may-care but honest attitude. Hereafter I will not look for the peripheral ramifications of any contest, but plough boldly ahead on basis of pure guessing. Harumph!

Last week I again was 65 per cent correct, but the other 35 per cent left me somewhat behind.

Our champion for the week is George E. MacDonald, Rupert, who takes money from this contest almost every year. The amazing thing about MacDonald is, however, that he seldom loses.

Members to send his ballots in. When he does money pours down upon him. He missed only three—if you can believe that—and earned the $10 first prize.

The remainder, plus several more, missed four games and the point system separated the winners from losers. Second prize goes to Mike Glenn, Burley, and DeVon Richter, ar. Buhl, grabs off third prize.

Honorable mentions go to David R. Hamblitt, Twin Falls, a repeater; Edward W. Smith, III, Boise; Don Hollander, Twin Falls; Roy D. Browne, Twin Falls; Warren Glenn, Burley; Darrell Freeman, Rupert; and Robert Carrell, Jerome.

In last week's mail we received a letter suggesting that one bowl entry be allowed for each time a person is in the weekly top 10. This contest is based on luck and skill but allowing some persons to get three and four chances on the all-star bowl games would take a large measure of those ingredients out. In the bowl game the ability man-to-man and will ever be thus.

This is the second to last week of the campaign so I take this opportunity to admonish you. And all to enter, yes, the reason could be. Remember, one ballot per game, sir, Gary Albin, Piler, who has enough pseudonyms to write forever!

Solon Asks Milwaukee To Sue NL

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Rep. Henry Reuss, D. Wis., suggested today that the county of Lincoln—Monday that they consider bringing an immediate lawsuit in an appropriate court against the National League under the anti-trust statutes.

Reuss said that the league's action last week against the county of Lincoln was a clear attempt at restraint of trade.

Reuss said that "baseball's 53-year-old exemption from the anti-trust laws of an end" and there is no reason for the county to await either possible action by the department of justice or the congress before initiating action.

Circuit Judge Ronald Drelich, who issued the initial temporary restraining order that stopped the Braves from moving to Atlanta last month, set Wednesday for a further hearing.

The Braves had asked a federal court to take jurisdiction, but U.S. District Judge Robert E. Tahan returned the matter to state court last Friday.

Milwaukee county board chairman Robert Grobenschmidt said Monday night he agreed with Reuss about starting the anti-trust action. He said he would confer about such a suit with county corporation counsel Robert Russell.

Grobenschmidt also said he had asked Russell for an opinion on the status of the county's suit in Judge Drelich's court. The chairman indicated the county would seek to have the injunction continued.

"If the injunction is removed, and the Braves started to move out where would we be?" Grobenschmidt asked.

Nixon Says Republican Party Has Gone "Too Far Right and Needs Discipline"

NEW YORK, Nov. 10, (AP)—The former Vice President, Richard M. Nixon said today the Republican party had gone "too far right" and now "most of all" needs some discipline to unify and concentrate on the 1968 congressional elections.

The Republican party's national position must represent "the respectable and responsible right and the responsible liberal," he said, and he sought the "nut" left and right.

If jockeying for position for the 1968 nominations "becomes our preeminent concern now, it unfairly divides the party," he said, and he urged a "unitive interview" with United Press International.

As for himself, he said, "My immediate goal is to help win the house for the right with Rockefeller. I'm not looking beyond that."

The former vice president, who narrowly lost the 1960 election to the late President John F. Kennedy's boy—and also for the 1964 campaign when he lost the nomination to Goldwater.

Rockefeller promptly replied that Nixon was nicking at the "poevish post-election utterance."

Nixon told UPI the party could not turn to Rockefeller for leadership because his position "is too far to the right."

Even though it might be correct for New York and possibly other states.

Q. Who does he classify as the ultra-liberals toward whom the party cannot swing?

A. Sen. Clifford P. Chase R.-N.J.; Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R.-N.Y.; senate Republican whip Thomas H. Kuchel, Calif., and former Ambassador and Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge II, R.-Mass.

NIXON'S 1960 running mate, Nelson of these endorsed Goldwater.

Q. Who does he group in the center which he says the party should seek?

A. Pennsylvania Gov. William V. Scranton, who ran second to Goldwater for the nomination at

The First World War

Written By PHILIP VAN DOREN STERN for Newspaper Enterprise Association

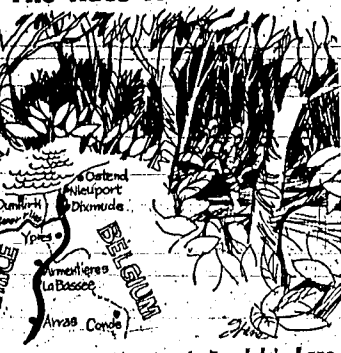

After the German advance had been stopped at the Battle of the Marne early in September, 1914, both sides realized that the western ends of their lines were exceedingly vulnerable. A series of rapid encounters took place, in which each army tried to outflank the other.

Before these battles began, however, the Germans besieged Antwerp in Belgium and compelled the Belgian army to evacuate the city. What was left of this army made their way along the coast to the Yser River, which flows from France through Flanders to Nieuport. They defended that tiny corner of Belgium so well that they kept it free throughout the war. At the end of October, the locks at Nieuport were opened to let in the North Sea, which flooded the low ground and helped to protect the area. Meanwhile, on Oct. 12, British, French and German cavalry met head-on in the sector between La Bassée and Arrmentieres. They did not fight on horseback but on foot, as dismounted. Union and Confederate cavalrymen had done during the later part of the Civil War. The Germans were stopped but only temporarily, for they were stronger in men and guns. On Oct. 20 they attacked the British in front of Nieuport. And on that same day British troops arrived at Ypres (rhymes with zebra) to defend the ridge east of that important communications center.

Starting on Oct. 30, Ypres became one of the most hotly contested sectors of the war. Shells kept falling there for four years. From Nov. 11 to 22, 1914, the fighting around Ypres (or "Wipers") as the British called it, was so intense that there were 250,000 casualties on the field. And as was so often to be the case in this war, nothing decisive was accomplished.

The armies were still using obsolete tactics against modern, quick-firing, long-range weapons. The high command had to learn the lesson the hard way—over mountains of corpses. In order to learn, nearly a whole generation of young men was sacrificed.

The Western Front was now complete. It extended 400 miles from the Swiss border to Nieuport on the North Sea. It was to remain almost unchanged for four years while incredibly bloody struggles went on to gain a few feet of land that was often lost again, in the seemingly endless conflict.

Campaigning Is Bad for Body Shape

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Lady campaigners take warning: The votes you gain for the party may show up in inches around your hips.

That was the consensus of members of the Democratic Women's club. The girls met Monday to gloat over the election victory and relax the whistle stop trip they made for the Johnson administration by the Washington-Washington Express.

Mrs. Samuel D. Lanahan of Washington, whose campaign party drove from Detroit to Chicago by way of Minnesota, warned that "campaigning is bad for the figure."

"I've had breakfast at 7:30—delicious pancakes," she said, "then at 9:30 there's a coffee meeting, with very bad coffee and little cookies in the shape of donkeys."

At noon there's a luncheon meeting. "In the middle of the afternoon there's a reception with tea and pink cake, always cake that's pink."

"You're down one or two or three highballs while you're dressing for dinner—and dinner is many, many courses," said Mrs. Lanahan.

Mrs. Lanahan, a Washington socialite active in capital politics, is the daughter of the late novelist, F. Scott Fitzgerald.

FOURTH ESCAPE

ROME, Nov. 10.—Seventeen-year-old Mafio Fabiani escaped yesterday from the Volterra reformatory for the fourth time in six weeks. In two of his previous attempts, young Fabiani was captured in Rome after slashing his wrists and jumping into the Tiber river.

Corps Placement Test Slated for Area Saturday

Peace corps volunteer placement test will be given at 8:30 a.m. Saturday at the Twin Falls and Burley postoffices.

When applicants take the placement test their mailed-in questionnaires will be fully evaluated. Those who have been selected in the questionnaire can obtain the form at the local postoffice, or college placement office. They must bring the questionnaire to the testing center.

Those selected will be interviewed along with character references and questionnaires, to determine if the applicant has the potential for completing a tough training program. The scores will also help in deciding the most appropriate overseas assignment.

Applicants must be American citizens at least 18 years of age. Married couples are eligible if they have no dependents under 18. College degrees are not necessary, but are helpful. Applicants should know a skill or trade.

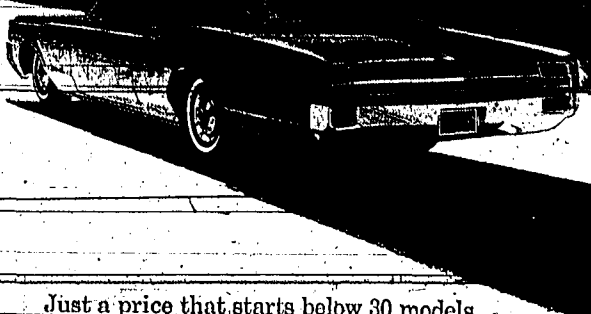

At last.
